

Axel Meisen, C.M., Ph.D., P.Eng, Eurlng., FCAE, FCIC, FIEI

Dr. Axel Meisen was elected President of the Fusion Energy Council of Canada (FECC) in September 2021. In addition to his duties as FECC President, he currently advises boards and senior management in Canada and abroad on strategy development of major initiatives with long-term time horizons.

He held the inaugural Chair in Foresight at the Alberta Research Council, after serving as president of Memorial University of Newfoundland, president of the Canadian Commission for UNESCO, president of the Canadian Academy of Engineering, and Dean of Applied Science and Professor of Chemical Engineering at The University of British Columbia. He was appointed to the Order of Canada in 2008.

He has B.Sc., M.Sc., and Ph.D. degrees in Chemical Engineering from Imperial College London, California Institute of Technology, and McGill University, respectively.